DISCUSSION:

With the release of Bulletin 00-21-01 Guidance for Human Rights Teams and Human Rights Committees, ODP released a 4-part webcast series titled Human Rights In Depth, to provide information and support for stakeholders involved in implementing the guidance and requirements related to individual rights and restrictive procedures.

The 4 webcasts, which are available on MyODP, provide detailed discussion of the following topic areas:

1. Responsibility to Inform and Strategies to Support People to Exercise their Rights
2. How to Make a Determination
3. Human Rights Teams
4. Human Rights Committees

Following up on those webcasts, ODP offered webinar trainings to members of HRTs and HRCs to delve more deeply into the process of “MAKING A DETERMINATION.”

Each of the 4 webinar sessions explored a unique practice scenario and discussed the use of restrictive procedures and whether the proposed intervention was restrictive. The sessions offered opportunities for in-depth discussion about the process, and guidance to teams as they evaluate individuals' behavior support plans. And those sessions reviewed some of the relevant factors to be considered when evaluating potential interventions and determining whether they may be restrictive. The factors to be considered include:

- The definition of “restrictive” as limiting rights;
- The consideration of a restrictive procedure as necessary due to “imminent risk”
- The importance of using “least restrictive” interventions
- The concept of “dignity of risk”
- The need to ensure individual choice vs. health and safety

While this webinar series was intended for members of HRTs or HRCs, ODP recorded each session, and is now making those recordings available for all interested parties.
